The text is written in a medieval script, likely a form of Gothic or similar, and appears to be a list or a set of instructions. It is arranged in approximately 12 lines. The text is somewhat difficult to decipher due to the cursive style and some fading. It begins with "The" and ends with "the".

The text on the right margin is partially visible and appears to be a continuation of the text on the left page. It is written in the same medieval script and is mostly obscured by the edge of the page and some staining.
